DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1, 7, 10, 13, 16, 19, 20, 23 and 45 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1, 7, 10, 13, 16 and 45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being Applicant Admitted Prior Art (hereinafter as AAPA).

4. As per claim 1, AAPA teaches the invention as claimed including an electronic information transmission method wherein designating a prescribed area on an information page that is supplied from a communication means that is connected to a plurality of terminals causes an information transmission page for creating and/or transmitting desired information to be displayed on a said terminal, and said desired information is transmitted to a desired transmission destination using said information transmission page; said electronic information transmission method [Spec., p. 1, line 10 – p. 2, 11; p. 3, lines 1-6] comprising displaying information on said information page that allows said transmission destination to be identified, confirmed or selected, designating said transmission destination by designating said information; displaying on said terminal an information transmission page in which the destination is set to said transmission destination responsive to the designating step [Spec., p3, lines 1-6, p.4, lines 10-16]; and transmitting said desired information to said transmission destination using said information transmission page [Spec., p. 3, lines 7-10; p.4, lines 17-20].

5. As per claims 7, 10, 13 and 16, AAPA teaches the transmission destination to be identified, checked, or selected is a picture of the person or a mark that can specify, a business organization that is the transmission destination, and wherein the destination of said desired information is specified by designating said picture, name, or mark [Spec., p. 3, lines 1-6 & 11-20; p. 4, lines 10-20].

6. As per claim 45, since it is an apparatus claim of claim 1, it is rejected for the same basis as claim 1 above.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

8. Claims 19-20 and 23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant Admitted Prior Art (hereinafter as AAPA) as applied to claims 1, 7, 10, 13, 16 and 45 above.

9. As per claims 19-20 and 23, AAPA teaches the invention substantially as claimed in claim 1. AAPA does not specifically teach designating any position on the page on that allows said transmission destination to be identified, checked, or selected and allowing identification of the sender is appended to said desired information. However, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to add these two functions in AAPA's system because doing so would bring convenience to users. One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to modify AAPA's system to attract more customers.

Conclusion

10. Applicant's arguments filed on 6/27/05 for claims 1, 7, 10, 13, 16, 19, 20, 23 and 45 have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive.

In the remarks, applicant argued in substance that AAPA does not teach designating said transmission destination by designating said information and displaying on said terminal an information transmission page in which the destination is set to said transmission destination responsive to the designating step.

11. Examiner respectfully traverses applicant's remarks:

Applicant fails to consider the teaching of the AAPA for clicking an area of the home page to intend send a mail to the creator of the home page [i.e., designating said transmission destination by designating said information] and bring out a e-mail transmission page displayed on the terminal, which the transmission destination is set to the home page creator, the user only need to enter the content for the e-mail [i.e., displaying on said terminal an information transmission page in which the destination is set to said transmission destination responsive to the designating step][Spec. p. 4, lines 1-6 and 10-17]. Thus, AAPA does teach the limitation in claim 1.

Accordingly, AAPA is still a relevant prior art reference.

12. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP §706.07(a).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

13. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
